EDUCATION

BACHELOR OF BIOMEDICAL SCIENCE

Griffith University, 2020-2022

I have recently graduated from Griffith University with a Bachelor of Biomedical Science. Within this degree, I have undertaken electives such as macromolecular and cellular biology, infectious disease, molecular genetics, microbiology, pharmacology, and immunology. Within my degree I have studied a variety of laboratory techniques such as polyacrylamide gel electrophoresis, western blot analysis, ELISA, flow cytometry, gel filtration chromatography, staining techniques, isolation of bacteria from patient samples (swabs, fecal matter), microbial growth on differential and selective media and biochemical analysis (Microbact), microscopy techniques (light microscopy), as well as performing multiple serial dilutions in a variety of laboratory experiments.

EXPERIENCE

4CYTE PATHOLOGY, PHLEBOTOMIST

2022 – Current Job

I currently work as a phlebotomist for 4Cyte Pathology. I work full-time hours, Monday to Friday, at Haan Health Medical Centre in Coomera, as well as occasionally on the weekends covering clinics in the local area. This job has widely broadened my knowledge of the medical field in terms of what testing is usually requested for a particular medical condition and which department this falls under in laboratory testing (immunology, biochemistry, histopathology etc.). I have gained valuable experience and understanding of the medical field working as a phlebotomist, applying the knowledge I gained studying biomedical science to my current job as a collector for 4Cyte Pathology.

HEALTHCARE PLACEMENT/WORK EXPERIENCE

2022

I have completed 35 hours of vocational placement and training as a phlebotomist under the Queensland Government at Robina Public Hospital where I was able to gain key experience and training working in both the pathology outpatient clinic and the hospital wards themselves, taking blood from a variety of different patients. One of the key skills I learnt through this experience was interacting with clients, how to make them feel heard and how to meet their needs whilst maintaining customer service. In addition, I was able to interact with on-site lab staff who explained the processing of different blood testing conducted such as CHEM20s, FBCs, testing fecal matter as well as blood typing.

TK MAXX, SALES ASSOCIATE

2019 – 2022

In terms of my prior work, I was employed as a casual sales associate at TK Maxx, Coomera where I engaged with customers, served on the register, organized and processed stock. This job was great experience into what working in a fast-paced retail environment is like. I have learnt how to merchandise stock appropriately in order to maximize target market viewership, advertise stock in line with seasonal sales and meet KPIs, targets and goals.

GOLD COAST CUSTOMZ, OWNER/SALES DIRECTOR

2019 – Current

I own and manage a shoe customizing business jointly with my sister. We hand-paint Air Force 1's with custom designs chosen by the customer. Owning and managing a business has shown me how to deal with customers, has given me experience in tracking profit, loss and business expenses. In addition, to make it easier for customers to order shoes, I have coded my own website (www.goldcoastcustomz.com) where we also deal with customers via direct message on Instagram so we can address any queries they have as soon as possible (lg: goldcoastcustomz).

VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE OR LEADERSHIP

Living Well Support Group, 2017 – Current

I volunteer in the Living Well Support Group which is a church-based group that supports local community initiatives. For example, flood relief we also have regular fundraiser to support initiatives in Africa and India.
